What the Politicians of the Land Are Doing.

AMENDMENTS TO THE REVENUE LAWS Which May Curtail Many Frivolous

THE DAY'S WORK IN CONGRESS,

Business to Open Up Soon in a Manner at Once Prompt and Satisfactory to the People.

WASHINGTON, February 5 .- [Special.]-Chairman Springer, of the ways and means committee, accomplished an ingenious flank movement today, which is designated to throw the republicans into a good deal of confusion. In appointing the subcommittee on reciprocity, he made Thomas B. Reed the minority

This will probably fan into a flame, the long smouldering feud between these two distin-guished men from Maine-James G. Blaine and Thomas B. Reed. A harder blow could probably not have been struck at Mr. Blaine an the selection of Mr. Reed as the republican member to pass upon and make minority reports upon Mr. Blaine's pet scheme of re-ciprocity. It is well known that Reed is not only intensely opposed to Mr. Blaine's reciprocity programme, but that he is intensely bitter towards Mr. Blaine himself.

It was supposed that Chairman Springer would select Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, as the minority member on this committee, as Burrows is a close friend of the secretary of state, and is as much his spokesman in congress as Senator Hale or Mr. Hill, of Illinois. Dalzell or McKenna, who would have reflected Mr. Blaine's sentiments, were passed over in order that the one man who is conspicuously opposed to Mr. Blaine and his policy might be forced to pass judgment on both. There is a good deal of curiosity as to what sort of a report Reed will make on reciprocity. He has, heretofore, carefully avoided the subject. It was not necessary for him to show his antagonism to Blaine in the last congress, as the McKinley bill passed without the vote of the speaker, but to his associates he made no concealment of his opposition to the entire reciprocity programme. He declared on one occasion to Mr. Burrows that it was "all rhetoric and no logic."

It is suggested that Reed may avoid the issue of combatting Blaine by declining to serve on the subcommittee, but he would hardly do this, as a declination would be as much of an affront as open opposition. The appointment of the reciprocity subcommittee was made at a time when the subject of reciprocity was about to have an elaborate presentation to congress as a preliminary to its use as an issue in the coming campaign. Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, at the opening of the session, introduced a resolution of inquiry as to why reciprocity was encouraged in some South American countries, while retaliation was the policy toward other American countries, notably Canada. Mr. Blaine determined to accept the Issue challenged by Mr. Breckinridge, and there is now in the course of preparation at the state department an elabprate showing of what reciprocity has accomplished, and what it is likely to accomplish in the future. The secretary of state took the opportunity to weave in a little politics, so that when the reciprocity report was pre sented to congress, it would be in a shape to go to the country in cart loads through the mails, as a franked decument free of cost during the coming campaign.

Now Mr. Springer has suddenly decided that laid before congress in a minority report, that report will be molded by Mr. Reed. It is not supposed that Mr. Blaine will care to commit the championship of reciprocity to his enemy, Mr. Reed. Mr. Springer has placed the reciprocity champions in an awkward predicament, and they will have to revise their plan

Endorsed by David A. Wells. Mr. Springer's policy of attacking the re-publican high tariff by separate bills has found endorsement from the great political economist and the father of tariff reform, David A. Wells, of Connecticut. At the next conference of the democratic members of the ways and means committee a letter will be read, not only endorsing the Springer policy as the est party course at this time, but intimating that even if the democrats controlled both uses of congress and the executive, the separate-bill plan rather than a measure for genaral revision, would be the wiser course.

What Mr. Fithian Thinks. The first attempt to enlarge the scope of the democratic policy of the ways and means committee came today in the form of a resolution introduced by Congressman Fithian, of Illinois, directing the ways and means committee to report a bill placing all kinds of agricultural implements upon the free list. Mr. Fithian thinks his proposition should have the support of every democratic representative from an agricultural district.

Proposed Revenue Legislation. A bill that will interest the people throughout the distilling section of the south was reported favorably to the house today by Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, from the judiciary committee. It is substantially the bill introduced by Mr. Henderson, of North Carolina, to amend the internal revenue laws. The first section abolishes what are known as minimum punishments, and is intended to discourage frivolous prosecutions. By the second section no warrant in the in-ternal revenue can be issued upon an affidavit marking charges "upon information and be-lief," unless made by certain officials, and also makes more stringent the law relating to the fees of court officers, with a view of removing some of the temptation to make case for the fees to be derived therefrom.

Section 3 requires warrants to be made returnable to the nearest federal commissioner or other official, and section 4 gives to the attention of the section 4 gives to the attention of the section 4 gives to the attention of the section torney general veto upon appointment of United States commissioners and the power of summary removal of commissioners. The last section empowers the commissioner of internal revenue, with the approval of the secretary of treasury, to discontinue or compromise civil

The President's Proclamation.

The president today issued his proclamation promulgating the reciprocity treaty with the British West India colonies. Its details were foreshadowed in the publication of December 30th, but the proclamation today includes in its provisions several colonies which were excepted in the publication of December 30th.

The house committee on elections today decided the first election case which it has con-sidered, and decided it in favor of the contestant, Craig, democrat, who has been contesting the seat of Stewart, from the twenty-fourth congressional district of Pennsylvania. The vote stood 10 to 3, Haughten and Doan, republicans, concurring with the democrats of the committee in their finding.

Silver Offerings Yesterday The amount of silver offered to the treasury today was 960,000. The amount purchased was 330,000 ounces at 91.10 to 91.40.

MILLS MAKES A SPEECH Indicating That He Will Fight the Party

Leaders NEW YORK, February 5 .- The Reform Club tendered a reception to Congressman Roger Q Mills, of Texas.

Mr. Mills, for the first time, indicated in public the line of action to be followed by him self and friends in the present congress regard-ing the tariff. His first words were in reference to the check which tariff reform had received to the check which tariff reform had received in the house, of its friends; at a time when to waver is dangerous. He declared his intention to oppose the proposed, half way and stand still measures that some democratic leaders advocated. He sconted the idea of going back to the tariff of 1883 and accepting that as the final settlement. He said that the democrats had been fighting high tariff for thirty years, and he was for carrying on the war, eternal, uncompromising war. At the close of his speech Mr. Mills said: "I will follow wherever the flag points to fair trade. I will follow wherever the flag goes, no matter who carries it, and I will fight wherever the battle is pitched."

favorDavid B.Hill's nomination for presidency of the United States. TILLMAN IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Will Be Re-Elected to the Governorship

of the State. CHARLESTON, S. C., February 5 .- [Special.] There does not seem to be much doubt now about the re-election of Governor Tillman who, in 1891, beat the regular democrat. It is learned that the opponents of Tillman re-cently sent out a circular calling a conference to meet at Columbia last night. The confer ence somehow failed to materialize, not more than a handful being present. The anti-Tillmanites talk of holding a convention early in the spring, but the trouble seems to be that they can't unite on a candidate to run against the present governor, who, if he is opposed will be opposed by his own people inside the ranks of the alliance. The success of Tillmanism means the election of anti-Cleveland delegates to the Chicago convention. The Tillman idea is toward Governor Hill. The alliance has all the machinery of the demo cratic party in its power in this state, and will elect its own candidates.

ORGANIZING FOR HILL. Auniston Joins in the Movement for a Dem ocratic President. Anniston, Ala., February 5 .- [Special.]-An enthusiastic Hill club was organized here this afterthusiastic Hill club was organized here this afternoon. Over one hundred and fifty names are already on the roll of membership, and this number is being rapidly increased. The officers are:

J. J. Willetts, president; H. A. Young, first vice president; S. S. Webb, second vice president; A.
L. McKay, secretary and treasurer; John S. Mooring, Frank McIntyre, E. E. Elam, G. S. Long and
R. H. McKay, secretary and treasurer; John S. Mooring, Frank McIntyre, E. E. Elam, G. S. Long and ing, Frank McIntyre, E. E. Elam, G. S. Long and B. H. Matthews, executive committee. The club is composed of some of the leading democrats of the city. President Willetts stated that the club was organized for the purpose of refuting the repeated statement that David, B. Hill had no strength in the south, and referred to his services and his untarnished reputation, both political and personal, in glowing terms.

STILL ON THEIR GUARD.

Anti-Lottery People Watching for Some New Scheme of the Lottery Company. NEW ORLEANS, February 5.—The New Delta, the organ of the anti-lottery party in this state, contains an interview with E. B. Krutschmitt, chairman of the anti-lotter emocratic executive committee. He use "The letter published by John A. Morris, withdrawing his lottery proposition, does not make the slightest change in the campaign or in the programme of our party. The proposition heretofore made by the lottery company is no longer acceptable to its advocates by reason of its curtailment of its revenue through the late decision of the supreme court of the United States. But should their at tempt to capture the state government succeed, they may yet strive to call a constitutional convention under the pretext of regulating suffrage, as was done in the state of Mississippi, and obtain another grant for a lottery in new constitution upon terms more favorable to its advocates than the amendment now be fore the people, or adopt some other means of achieving their object. All former contests with the lottery have taught us that it is fertile in the state of the in occult schemes to effect its purposes. We intend to see that the amendment is voted down in April by such a majority as to pre-clude all possibility of any further agitation of the question, and that none but anti-lottery men be placed on the guard until all the lot-teries have ceased to maintain legal existence in the state of Louisiana. We are perfectly satisfied with the present condition of the

The Press-Gag Indictments Dismissed

NEW YORK, February 5 .- Judge Martine, in eneral sessions today, dismissed the indictment or misdemeanor found against the editors of th for misdemeanor found against the editors of the different daily newspapers of this city, who published the details of the electrocution of the murderers, Wood, Smiler, Slocum and Jugiro, at Sing Sing on July 7, 1891. In recommending the dismissal, District Attorney Nicoll stated that the statute under which the indictments were found had been repealed, and that accordingly their conviction could not be obtained.

Discharging Brotherhood Men. St. Louis, February 5 .- Despite the denials of local officers of the Adams Express Company, it is positively asserted that several discharges of old messengers, said to belong to the brotherhood, have taken place during the past few days. On the Ohio and Mississippi, be-tween St. Louis and Cincinnati, five mesngers were dismissed, while others on this sengers were dismissed, white others of this run are expecting their walking papers every minute. Of the six messengers on the Louisville and Nashville, between St. Louis and Louisville, only three of the old men remain, and two of the four running between St. Louis and Henderson, Ky., are out of employment.

An Electric Strike. New York, February 5.—Two hundred electric light wiremen are on a strike, and they declare that before they will give in every building and office between the Battery and Thirty-ninth street to which the Edison Illuminating Company's wires run will be darkened.

To Select Delegates GUTHRIE, Ok., February 5.—The democratic territorial central committee has decided to call the territorial convention May 27th for selecting delegates to the national convention.

PORTER'S BAD WORK

In Bungling Up the Census of the Country.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION ASKED FOR

Mr. Sayres Hints at Rottenness in the Department.

THE MATTER FINALLY PASSES OVER,

But Later There Will Come a Wholesale Investigation of the Manner in Which the Money Was Spent.

WASHINGTON, February 5 .- [Special.]-When the deficiency appropriation bill for the census office came up in the house today, Mr. Sayres raised the question as to the use of the $6,000,000 heretofore appropriated for the office, and he directly charged that the office had been grossly mismanaged, and that Superintendent Porter had been recklessly extrava-

He did not go into details, as he was pr pared to do, but the republican leaders evidently thought that was his intention, for they undertook, in a measure, to combat his asser

Mr. Sayres, who is one of the most observant and conservative members of the appropriation committee, did not prolong the controversy further than to state that he had proofs that the census office had been conducted extravagantly, as stated.

The Deficiency Accepted. The deficiency, however, was accepted by the house, and the appropriation made. It was a source of considerable gratification to the republicans that the census office got off so easily. But this will not end it. It is the intention of the democratic leaders in congress to have a thorough investigation of the census

The facts upon which this inquiry will be conducted are in the possession of Mr. Sayres, and he simply alluded to them today in a pro forma manner. At a later period in the session this investigation will be had, and it would have been useless for the issue to have been raised at this time, in connection with the deficiency bill. The deficiency having occurred, the government is bound to meet it, and nothing could have been gained by precipitating at this time a controversy that could only be irritating.

An Investigation Ahead.

The line of investigation which it is proposed to conduct will be in the direction of the partisan uses to which the large appropriation heretofore made have been applied, and the failure to secure satisfactory results from the large army of the republican clerks with which the census office was packed prior to the last election. A force much larger than necessary was employed for months in rooms not sufficient to accommodate them, with the result that the work of one clerk interfered with that of another, and a large percentage of it was imperfectly done. A great deal of money was squandered on the punching machines in the way of royalty.

This was not enough, but the operators in numerous instances, were incompetent, and the work in many cases was gone over three or four times. In some cases schedules authorized and partly completed were, by the order of Superintendent Porter, abandoned, thus throwing away all the money that had previously been expended in their compilation. This is especially true, notably in regard to the fisheries statistics. It was these facts that Mr. Sayres had in mind when he made the charge upon the floor today.

The Manufacturing Statistics.

The inefficiency of the census office has been practically demonstrated also in respect to manufacturing statistics. The schedules have been in the office for months, and there are daily demands for them from all parts of the country, as they are the most important of the census. Notwithstanding this fact the money which should have been applied to complete the statistics has been used for other purposes, to suit the convenience of the superintendent of the census and the managers of the republican party.

The Anti-Options Bill. "The short seller is today the anarchist of America," said John Whitaker, a large pork packer of St. Louis, Mo. and Wichita, Kan., today in an address to the house committee on agriculture in advocacy of the anti-options bill. He asserted that unquestionably the tendency of short selling was to depress prices and interfere with legitimate trade. Producers, he argued, were the sufferers from sellers of shorts, and he wished these anarchists to be wiped out. We produced no coffee, and for that reason he believed in the option selling in That gave the American citizen cheaper coffee, as it enabled the price to be tixed by the sales of a large quantity of coffee that was not in existence.

Short selling in any article of home production, however, he would make a statutory

SAD SCENES IN COURT. Mrs. Osborne Appears to Answer the Charges Against Her.

LONDON, February 5 .- Mrs. Florence Ethel Osborne, who voluntarily surrendered herself yesterday to answer the charges made against her in connection with the theft and sale of quantity of valuable jewelry belonging to Mrs. Hargreaves, formerly an intimate friend, was formally arraigned before Lord Mayor Evans this morning.

She appeared to be utterly broken down.
She kept ber handkerchief to her eyes and oc-casionally her whole frame would shake with casionally her whole frame would shake with convulsive sobs.

In every way state painful position. It is present the painful position. He kept his hand on her arm and tried by word and kindly touch to comfort her and make her feel, no matter what happened, he would stand her friend to the end. The scene was most pathetic and there was a suspicion of moisture in the eyes of some of the court attendants, who, it would be thought, were hardened to scenes of misery and suffering.

The Lady Faints. The Lady Faints.

The Lady Faints.

At 10:30 o'clock, after the usual formalities were complied with, the court was declared open, and the formal charge against Mrs. Osborne of obtaining money under false pretenses by representing herself as the rightful owner of the jewelry she sold to Spink & Sous, was read. Mrs. Osborne's solicitor arose and announced that Mrs. Osborne had surrendered herself voluntarily to the police in order to meet the charge against her. Lord with the case until the treasury was represented. Then there ensued a long wait, which proved too much for the strained nerves of Mrs. Osborne. She seemed cheking, and became hysterical. Her husband fanned her and gave her a glass of water, but nothing seemed to calin her. Finally the scene became extremely painful, and at the lord mayor's suggestion she was taken to an adjoining committee room to await the coming of mayor's suggestion she was taken to an adjoin-ing committee room to await the coming of the representative of the treasury. Captain Os-borne supported her on one side and a stalwart detective on the other. They were compelled to almost carry her, and as they neared the door to almost carry her, and as they neared the door of the committee room she placed her arms around her husband's neck, and would have fallen to the floor had not he and the detective supported her. As she was carried through the courtroom there was a murmur of pity from the spectators. It was without doubt one of the saddest scenes ever winessed in a kendon courtroom and the abject misery in a keondon courtroom, and the abject misery and helplessness of the unfortunate woman touched all hearts.

The Case Opened. After a long wait, Hon. Cuffee, representing After a long wait, Hon. Cuffee, representing the treasury, appeared, and the hearing was resumed. Cuffee said the treasury had no evidence to offer against the prisoner, wherenpon the lord mayor promptly discharged Mrs. Osborne. The detectives at once stepped to the committee room and again placed Mrs. Osborne under arrest on the charge of perjury. Mrs. Osborne was taken to Bow street court, where a formal charge was made against her. She was formal charge was made against her. She was remanded for a week, bail offered and refused. She was then removed to Holloway jail. Cap-tain Osborne accompanied her to the prison.

PARLIAMENT TO MEET. The Queen's Speech-What the Parties Are

Preparing to Do. London, February 5.—[Copyright, 1892, by the New York Associated Press.]—The cabi-net sat for nearly three hours yesterday shaping the speech from the throne with which parliament will be opened Tuesday. The unusual length of time spent over the document is attributed to the difference of opinion as to whether any reference should be made to the coming session as bringing the present parliament toward the close of its career. It was finally determined that nothing should be said on that subject. The queen, in privy council, at Osborne house tomorrow, will formally consider and approve the draft of the speech.

Today Balfour, first lord of the treasury, had an interview with Messrs. Hadge and Milvain, members of parliament, who will respectively address the queen, and communicated the speech to them, according to custom, in order to enable them to prepare for the occasion.

The Dissolution of Parliament. Mr. Gladstone will not appear in the house of commons in the first week of the session. He has delegated to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the task of questioning the government as to its intentions in regard to the dissolution of parliament. If the reply is indefinite Mr. Gladstone will then question the subject of a party fight.

A meeting of dissidents will be held at Devonshire house Monday, at which Cham-berlain will be formally accepted as the leader in the house of commons. In beriain will be formally accepted as the leader in the house of commons. In the evening the duke of Devonshire will give a dinner to a few adherents. No political section in the whole country is in a more dismal condition than are the dissidents. The prospect of their extinction in the coming elections is increasing. The local conservatives of Worcestershire, which is now represented by the dissidents, have declared for purely conservative condidates. Rejecting. for purely conservative candidates, rejecting the claims of Austin Chamberlain, who wanted to stand for one of the constituencies. Conservatives in other constituencies are showing fight against the dissidents nominated by party managers.

The McCarthy Committee Messrs. Sexton, Dillon, O'Brien, T. M. Healy, Sherry, Abraham, Arthur and T. P. O'Connor, were today elected a committee to advise McCarthy.

advise McCarthy.
Yesterday evening the report, which was accepted as probable, gave to Mr. Sexton, the right of succession to the chairmanship of the Irish party. There is not, yet, however, anything like unanimity as to who should follow Mr. McCarthy. The reputation of Sexton as an able administrator was immensely enhanced during his tenure of the mayoralty of Dublin, and the sayacity, tact and excess of temper and the sagacity, tact and eveness of temper he has displayed in recent feuds mark him as

Will Be George's Wife. Empress Frederick will come to Windsor castle in the spring with Princess Margaret, when it is expected that the latter's marriage with Prince George will be settled. Although with Prince George will be settled. Although the public announcement of betrothal is posponed, Emperor William looks with favor on the match. Princess Margaret has the reputation at court of being the most English of regularly attends an English church at Berlin, and is generally imbued with English tastes.

THREE NECKS BROKEN.

William Puckett, Robert Charlton and William Bush Pay the Death Penalty. Louisville, Ky., February 5 .- William Puckett was hanged at Irvine, Ky., today for he murder of William Hall. The execution took-place at 12:30 o'clock, and Puckett's neck was broken. The murder was the result of a political discussion.

Robert Charlton, colored, was hanged at Henderson, Ky., for the murder of his mistress, Minnie Hoskins. He killed her on the night of November 27th because she refused him money with which to play craps.
William Bush was hanged at Stanford this afternoon. He murdered his wife at Clay City April 22, 1890. He tried to implicate Alfred Smith, saying his wife knew about a lot of Smith's devilment and was going to talk.

SHE WISHED TO HANG.

Freda Ward's Slayer Becomes Frantic When Informed She Will Not Be Hung.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., February 5 .- Miss Alice Mitchell, the slaver of Freda Ward, when informed by her lawyer that she would escape the gallows, became frantic, and said that she poked forward to the day when she should be hanged as the happiest of all, as beyond the gallows she would once more meet Freda Ward. She became terribly despondent, and fears are entertained that she will o suicide. Last night she was watched in her cell by one of her relatives.

They Defled the Old Folks. Tuscaloosa, Ala., February 5.—[Special.]—A comantic marriage occurred in Tuscaloosa last night. The contracting parties were Mr. Glenn Foster and Miss Julia Martin. The fair heroine of the escapade is one of Tuscaloosa's fairest daughters. The hero is the teller of the Merchants' National bank, and is a popular young man. Miss Martin was preparing to leave for Texas, and as there were some objections to the match on the part of the grandparents of the young lady, they decided to defy the parental will. This is not exceptional as it is the fourth young lady in the family that has been stolen by her lover. The couple left for Texas immediately, but will return in a few days and reside here. FAILURES REPORTED FOR THE WEEK

Orders for Munufactured Products Increasing in the West.

THE ADVANCE IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Causes Some Apprehension in Financial

Circles-The Effect of Overproduction of Cotton in the South. NEW YORK, February 5 .- The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States 273, Canada 46, total 319; against 297 last week. In spite of much dullness and complaint in some important branches, trade is gradually enlarging. The east does not show the full benefit, because the western business is largely met by western distributing centers, and that alone is increasing heavily, while the southern trade which is more largely met by distribution from the east, is unusually dull. But the west from the east, is unusually duff. But the west is steadily increasing orders for manufactured products and is likely to buy more largely in the next five months than ever before. The eastern consumption is also fairly up to the maximum, as labor is well employed.

Overproduction and Speculation. Overproduction and speculation.

The stringency at the south owing to the overproduction of cotton and hurtful speculation in the past is at present the only force retarding the general improvement. In financial and speculative circles, nevertheless, some apprehension appears because of the advance in foreign exchange from 486 to 487, in spite of enormous merchandise balances in favor of this country. It is argued that this shows a of enormous merchandise balances in layor of this country. It is argued that this shows a very heavy withdrawal of foreign capital from the country, because silver legisla-tion is feared or for some other reason, and that in effect Europe will pay for breadstuffs and cotton needed by surrendering titles to American property. If so, this country can fairly well afford to own itself.

Exports of merchandise continue to greatly exceed last year's, for five months at New York about 37 per cent, while in the value of improvements the increase is very slight. There is considerable evidence that large blocks of American securities are being sold here by foreigners, but the market has taken them

The Trades in the Staples.

The Trades in the Staples.

At Philadelphia more orders are seen for manufactured iron, and increased business in dry goods, especially in staples, dress goods being sold far in advance, while wool is quiet with a fair volume of sales. Cigar manufacturers are busy and trade in groceries and chemicals unchanged. Speculations in products has been more active, but in spite of the abundance of money the tendency of prices is lower. Wheat fell to 5% cents here, but recovered over a cent, and after sales of 33,000,000 bushels, is 1 cent lower than a week ago.

Western receipts diminish, but exports diminish still more. Corn closed only an eighth higher and oats three-eighths higher, but pork products are a shade lower. Cotton is a sixteenth lower for spot and February has sold below 7 cents, receipts continuing enormous. Coffee is a fraction stronger.

The Low Price for Silver. Silver has also fallen to about the lowest price ever quoted, 41.56 pence per ounce, re-covering slightly to 41.62 pence. Great industries make progress in spite of Great industries make progress in spite of low prices and production, which seem to threaten a reaction.

Pig iron shows little concession at Philadelphia, and some shading here by southern con-cerns, and bar is as dull as ever, at a light decerns, and har is as during every at a light demand for plates. Structural iron is unsettled by a collapse of the steel beam combination, and the price has fallen to 2½ cents. But the coming expenditures by the great railroads promise an unusual demand, and news comes of the opening of additional furnaces. At the highest price demanded by agents, coal is exceedingly dull.

The Boot and Shoe Trade.

The boat and shoe business is getting better, with more orders, but in some cases prices are shaded a little; more activity is seen in dry goods and a large number of western buyers are doing a fair business. Demand for spring goodsis growing, but clothiers are still in the dark. Cottons are affected by poor southern trade, but prices of some prints and sheetings have been advanced, and orders for knit goods are fully as large as a year ago.

A SPARRING EXHIBITION STOPPED.

The Sporting Men of Nashville Cheated Out of a Treat. NASHVILLE, Tenn., February 5.—[Special.]— There was much indignation today among the sporting men, especially over the action of Chair-man Kennedy, of the board of public works and man Kennedy, of the board of public works and affairs, in preventing the sparring exhibition between Frank Slavin and Charley Mitchell last night. These two pugilists are traveling with Thompson's aggregation of celebrities, now showing here, and last night were informed that peremptory orders had been issued that no sparring be allowed. This action was based on the state law prohibiting prize fights. In consequence of the order a crowded house was dismissed in the middle of the performance and tickets returned. Today the city attorney's opinion was asked, and he decided that the law did not apply to sparring exhibitions in theatrical performances, where the sparring was simply a scientific exhibition, and so orders were issued to the police to allow the show to go on, provided the men did not punish each other.

Anniston, Ala., February 5.—[Special.]— George Jones, a negro, was arrested here to-day by the police for a murder committed in day by the police for a murder committed in Troup county, Georgia, thirteen years ago. The arrest was made at the request of W. R. Stewart, whose father was the murdered man. Mr. Stewart has spent the greater part of all these years searching for his father's slayer. The negro will be held here until other parties come from Troup county and complete the identification, and requisition papers can be secured.

PALMER REPLIES.

The Leader of the Grand Army of the Re-

Every one will remember, too, that subsequently the Atlanta post of the Grand Army in chief writes a long reply to the action of the Atlanta post.

He is rather inclined to condemn again the Atlanta post for following under the shadow of this so-called confederate war flag on an occasion like the one in question. He says he doesn't blame them for participating in the Grady exercises, and doesn't mind their identifying themselves with southern celebrations when they are not aware that a confederate flag would be sprung upon them.

He disclaims anything of a partisan nature, however, that may have seemed apparent in his former address.

He began boasting of a murder he had committed in Atlanta, telling of a negro whom he had shot some time ago in Darktown. In consequence, Little was held there yesterday, and a letter sent to Chief Connolly asking whether the negro was wanted. None of the officers seem to know anything of the tragedy, and it may prove a "fake" on the part of little.

The affair is being investigated, however, and it may yet prove an important arrest.

THE DEATH RECORD.

David Clopton, the senior associate of the su-preme court of Alabama, died yesterday morning in Montgomery, aged seventy-one. He was born in Putnam county, Georgia, and was in congress from Alabama in 1861, and left with the other con-gressmen from that state. He served throughout the confederacy as a member of the confederate congress. In October, 1884, Governor O'Neill ap-pointed him to the supreme court bench, which was endorsed by his unanimous nomination for his seat by the democratic state convention of 1886. Judge J. D. Sherrill, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Griffin, died at his home on East Broadway at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Judge Sherrill was born in North Carolina in May, 1816, and hence was in his seventy-ninth year. He moved to Spalding county in 1847, where he joined the independent order of Odd Fellows as a charter member of Warren lodge. He has held every office in the order, both local and state, and was at the time of his death warden of Warren lodge. He officiated in this capacity in an initiation on Monday night last, and told some of the members it was time they were learning this part of the ceremony, as he could not be with them many more meetings. After leaving the lodge-room he was stricken with paralysis, and remained unconscious to the end. He leaves an aged wife, several children and numerous friends to mourn his death. He will be buried by Warren lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which organization he loved next to his family.

The meeting will, therefore, be an important and interesting one.

Some time ago representatives of the ten leading commission firms got together and discussed the feasibility of erecting in conjunction a large block into which all these firms could go. The idea was to have a handsome and commodious structure, fully equipped with all facilities that will reduce the cost of handling produce and promote the interests of the wholesale commission business.

Mr. J. W. Phillips, Jr., who is one of the principal movers in the matter, said yesterday:

The money has all been subscribed, and the company formally organized. I say formally—that is, we have reached a perfect understanding and agreement, and the papers have been signed up. Appropriate committees have been appointed to take charge of each department of the preliminaries, and they are actively engaged in the details of the work."

"Will it be an incorporated company?" Mr. Phillips was asked.

"Will it be an incorporated company?" Mr. Phillips was asked.
"No, it will not. We, the wholesale commission merchants of Atlanta, each appreciating the great advantage such a building would be to our individual and common interest, just met, agreed upon the material preliminaries and subscribed the money necessary to buy the property and construct the building. We are now ready to proceed with the work of construction as soon as we can get a suitable location. now ready to proceed with the work of construction as soon as we can get a suitable location. If we accept this we will make an effort to have spring street extended across the railroad to new Alabama street. There are negotiations pending for the construction of a mammoth warehouse by one of the railroads, which proposes to build a bridge across the tracks and make an outlet for the site which we are considering. If they do that it will be just what we want."

"We have estimated it at $70,000. There are ten firms interested, and we think we can buy the property and put up the building at a cost of about seven thousand dollars from each. The block will contain at least ten each. The block will contain at least ten storerooms, and will be two or more, probably three stories high. It will be built with a special view to facilitate the handling of our business, and equipped with all conveniences therefor. We want to get the wholesale commission business all on one street here, as it is in other large cities. We are now scattered all over town, are paying high rent, and have not the facilities and conveniences that we need to transact our business with dispatch and satisfaction."

RAILROAD NEWS.

Assistant Grand Chief Wilkins Addresses the Conductors-General Railroad Gossip.

Freight business is picking up on the railroads. This is particularly true of the West-Superintendent McCollum said vesterday that he had looked for an improvement in traffic about the middle of the month. He was pleased to see it come earlier than it was expected.

The increase is in no special line of freight, but embraces all sorts of traffic. More general merchandise is being shipped than for many weeks, and this is proof that general business is picking up. When general trade is dull, the railroads feel it right away. If business drops off so that instead of handling 300 cars a day on a division only 200 are handled, it can be set down as a fact that general trade has declined.

Traffic has been dull all over the south since the Richmond and Danville did through the Georgia Pacitic.

One says: "The Richmond and Danville drew heavily upon the Central. Large amounts were borrowed from the Central's bank under promise of repayment. All of the $500,000 which was given the bank from the proceeds of the sale of bonds by Hollins in 1887 or 1888 was withdrawn. Last summer the bank's working capital was cut down to such a small sum that it could not do a general banking business.

The Georgia Pacific's guarrantee to maintain the Central lease and to pay the stockholder 7 per cent dividend is $1,000,000, and the Georgia Pacific's claim is only $200,000. Supposing that it is not really entitled to that $800,000 but should manage to get it. Then if it missed a semi-annual dividend of $262,500 and the lease was broken, it would not be out of pocket much."

ALBANY, Ga., February 5 .- [Special.]-From Mr. Abe Champion, of Worth county, who was in the city today, your correspondent learned of the operations of a band of white caps who have undertaken to punish all who come under their displeasure.

The Couple Part.

Some time since, a farmer by the name of Thomas Ireland and his wife fell out and separated. Ireland left his spouse in possession of their home, and went himself to live in the tenant house on the pren While residing there, Ireland secured the ser vices of Miss Josephine Champion as his cook and housekeeper, and seemed to be getting along very satisfactorily to himself when, on the night of the 23d of January, while he was sick, he was visited by the regulators, who, being denied admittance, broke he door down with a fence rail, and, rushing in, threw light wads of cotton saturated with ne on the floor, Taken Out to Punishment.

Champion was pulled out of bed, and with Miss Champion, was taken to a branch some distance away, and subjected to a terrible beat ing. Twelve mep struck him twelve blows each, with a plow line doubled four times. He was then knocked insensible with a heavy walking stick. The mob then attempted to denude Miss Champion, preparatory to giving her a similar dose, but her stout resistance and loud screams brought assistance from sev eral neighbors, whose advent on the scene caused the white caps to decamp, not, however, before they had given Ireland warning to return to the bed and board of his wife within ten days, leave the country, or be killed.

He Leaves the Country.

Ireland chose the second alternative and came to Albany last Monday night, in his flight from the vengeance of the white caps It is said he was literally flaved alive, and it was with the greatest difficulty he accomplished his departure, owing to his bruised and bleeding condition. It is said that the men who composed the band were recognized by both Ireland and Miss Champion, and that they are to be prosecuted to the full extent of the law by Miss Champion's large family con-nection. The scene of the outrage was in the southwest corner of Worth county, near the line of Colquitt.

COTTON IS AWAY DOWN.

And There Is Talk of Holding It Over for Next Year.

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 5.—[Special.]—Savannah is stocked up with cotton. According to the calculations of a cotton factor, there are now stored in the city fully 50,000 bales. When Sherman entered Savannah he found 27,000 bales here. There is, therefore, at present about 23,000 more bales in the city's warehouses than at that time. The value of the other street is about 23,000 more bales in the city's warehouses than at that time. this cotton is about one million five hundred thousand dollars. The insurance and warethousand dollars. The insurance and warehouse charges on it foot up a pretty good sum. Middling is down to 6g cents. This is within one-eighth of a cent off the lowest price it has reached. The little spurt that sent it up to 7 cents a short time ago did not last long. The condition of the market is not a result of The condition of the market is not a result of speculation, but of receipts. When they fall off a better tone is at once manifested. When they increase, it becomes dead again. Spots have not dropped as much as futures, owing to the absence of a pressure to sell that existed a few weeks ago. If the acreage should be generally reduced from 10 to 20 per cent, and the weather should not prove so favorble sain the past two years prices would become as in the past two years, prices would been next fall, and the man who bought cotton now and held it as a speculation would make money out of his investment. It would probably cost him about two cents a pound for insurance and storage while he was carrying it, and under such conditions, prices would cer-tainly be more than that much higher than what he paid for it. At the same time there is precious little inclination to buy cotton, to hold it as a pure speculation. Men seem to be afraid that another enormous crop may be

Homeless Orphans-The News in Brief from Macon.

MACON, Ga., February 5 .- [Special.]-Colonel Lee Jordan pays a handsome tribute to the memory of his mother.

Colonel Jordan owns much valuable real estate in Macon. He has donated a lot in this city worth $5,000 to the Methodist Orphan Home located at Macon. The donation has been made in memory of his mother, and is the starting of what will be known as the "Emily E. Jordan Fund." The following resolutions of thanks are interesting reading resolutions of thanks are interesting reading and self-explanatory:

Whereas, The board of trustees of the Orphans' Home of the south Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, has heard with great satisfaction of the proposition of Colonel L. A. Jordan to donate to said home a valuable improved city lot in the city of Macon, estimated at five thousand dollars and upon the two following conditions:

following conditions:

1. That this board shall pay to the said conference for the benefit of the superannuated preachers, their widows and orphans, the sum of $1,000 in cash.

2. That the sum of $4,000, or whatever sum, less $1,000, the said Orphans' home may hereafter receive from the sale of said property, shall be set apart and held as a part of its endowment fund, to be known as the "Emily E. Jordan Fund," therefore, be it resolved: 1. That the above and foregoing conditions are accepted, and will be complied with on the part of

1. That the above and foregoing conditions are scepted, and will be complied with on the part of this board.

2. That in behalf of said Orphans' Home, and all those who are now its inmates receive, the benefits of its shelter, and who may hereafter be its inmates and protection and care, we do hereby extend our sincere and grateful appreciation to Colonel L. A. Jordan for his action, which we appreciate all the more on learning from him that the same is a voluntary execution by Min of a wish and purpose verbally expressed to him by his mother, Mrs. Emily E. Jordan, who, during her lifetime, by the interest she took in the Orphans' Home and her liberality towards it, that she was an earnest and devoted friend of this institution.

play. Indeed, the lines fairly teem with flashes of wit and merriment that set the audience in a state of keenly relishing epjoyment.

Men who have written good comedies—and few such men there are—have not been generally successful in constructing plays for stars, while the men who have been iortunate in the dramatic tailoring line have met with ignominious disaster in essaying to soar through the higher atmosphere of aesthetic composition. But the author of "Everybody's Friend" has met and vanquished flis rival on every plane, giving the versatility and flexibility of his genius the most brilliant proofs.

As Major Wellington de Boots, Mr. Wilfred Clarke was immense. His sterling virtues as a comedian shine out with resplendent brilliancy. He portrayed with life-like truthrulness the poltroon, the bombastic, yet kind-hearted little major. As Mrs. Swandown, Miss Victory Bateman was excellent. She is always artistic in her work, and both in comedy and tragedy is thoroughly at home. Mrs. Dickson made an admirable Mrs. de Boots, and Mrs. Featherly was carefully portrayed by Miss Howard. Mr. Hale, as Felix, had a very long part as well as a difficult one, yet enacted it handsomely. As Icebook, Mr. Tarleton was very good, and decidedly realistic, especially whilst pulling the major's nose. The rest of the characters were in competent hands. The duel scene, which is an innovation, is equal to the one in "The Rivals." It was excellently played.

So many have been cured of rheumatism by Hood's Sarsaparilla that we urge all who suffer from the disease to try this medicine.

A Strange Coincidence.

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., February 5.-[Special.] A citizen of Hawkinsville set out the other evening to find a bird for his sick wife. He wanted a partridge or dove. He looked the town over, and, failing to find a bird for sale, was about to go to the woods hunting, when a fat, plump partridge flew into his store and was captured by the clerk. This is what might be termed a very strange coincidence, but it is, nevertheless, a fact.

Getting Ready for Action. The signs of the times strongly point to an organized third party movement in Georgia this year.

If there is no third party in sight, it is safe to say that its friends are hard at work trying to organize one.

Naturally, this calls for vigilance and early activity on the party of the democracy, and a part of the programme is to send speakers to the supposed strongholds of the third party, or to the points where it expects to obtain a following. This is well enough, but when we send these messengers from the democracy into the districts where their work is most needed, care should be taken to send true and tried men, whose knowledge of the situa tion, and whose appreciation of the just demands of the alliance will cause them to speak the words of truth and soberness and conciliation.

There would be no talk of a third party in Georgia if certain democrats outside of the alliance had not persistently fought the democratic alliancemen from the start, The latter-genuine democrats from their youth up-constituting 75 per cent of the democratic party, and fully determined to go with the party in the future as in the past, have been vilified and denounced by a few democratic politicians and papers, until they are in a resentful mood.

The continuance of such folly is bound to make recruits for the third party. There is neither sense nor justice in the bulldozing policy and superior airs assumed by a certain element in the minority of the democratic party. These malcontents are just as much bound to yield to the majority as the democratic alliancemen were in the past, and they should be just as willing to do so now as the democratic alliancemen are today.

Let us see to it that only representative democrats are commissioned by their party to take the stump in the doubtful districts. If we send indiscreet men determined to rule or ruin-domineering, would-be proscriptionists, their mission will be worse than useless.

This proscriptive spirit, by the way, was never more conspicuously manifested than in the case of Congressman Livingston. His earnest work for the alliance has caused some of the proscriptionists to impeach his party loyalty. A little later, when his opposition to the third party drew upon him the abuse of some of its advocates, his democratic opponents, to the surprise of everybody, renewed their attacks upon him. These remarkable democrats condemned him when they claimed to doubt his democracy, and doubly condemn him when they are forced to admit that he is true to the old party, and is doing valiant service in its behalf. THE CONSTITUTION is not under the slightest obligation to Colonel Livingston in any way whatsoever, but we bespeak for him in his effort to keep the alliance out of the meshes of the third party the support and encouragement of all good democrats. While engaged in this praiseworthy work he should be sustained instead of being subjected to abuse by an element in the party which apparently would as soon see the party defeated as to have it maintain its integrity by the votes of the farmers of the state, without which the party would be absolutely helpless. Now, such intolerant and proscriptive democrats are doing as much to drive men into the third party as the republicans are, who are scattering their emissaries and their money through Georgia and the south. We cannot afford to send such speakers before the people. Send them to the rear before their unfairness plays into the hands of the enemy and destroys, through senseless divisions, the great party which the republicans can only defeat by taking advantage of just such folly.

Then and Now.

Democrats believe in free speech and in a free press, and when they get a little ruffled their utterances are frequently more peppery than judicious.

They were always so. Sometimes they have made the mistake of denouncing good men and good measures, but their sober second thought generally gets them on the

Only a few years after Washington had saved the country and established the republic, The Aurora, the leading democratic paper of Philadelphia, said of him:

If ever a nation was debauched by a man, American nation has been debauched by W If ever a nation has been deceived by a man the American nation has been deceived by Washington. Let his conduct then be an example to future ages.

Pretty rough language about the Father of his Country! But the democrate who talked in that was due him

We are the same hot-headed set of fellows a century later. After David Bennett Hill has saved the great state of New York for the democracy, restoring once more the rule of the majority-after he has gone through his public and private life without a breath of scandal, without a personal veil and without ever disappointing his friends and his party, we find The Nashville American describing him as a "trickster and demagogue."

fashion in 1796 soon felt ashamed of themselves, and gave Washington the credit that

It is all right. The Aurora did not hurt Washington, and Hill will probably never hear of The American's abuse.

The conduct of these two newspapers merely shows that some democrats are nighty careless with their tongues and When they are out of humor they are just as ready to jump on their bes friends as they are to assail their bitterest foes. It is an unfortunate failing.

Betrayed at Home.

This choice morsel from The Philadelphia Times is being absorbed with unusual relish by the featherhead press, after having done ong service to the republican organs of the country-

In 1888 Cleveland was deliberately betrayed to

And how, pray, was Mr. Cleveland "deliberately betrayed" in 1888 to make Hill govornor? It is always well to go to the records in discussions of this sort, and an examination of the returns of the presidential and gubernatorial vote in New York in 1888 will be of special interest in considering the above charge.

Mr. Cleveland's home was in Erie county, New York, of which county he had been sheriff, and of the leading city of which-Buffalo-he had been mayor, before being elected governor of New York.

In his first race for the presidency Mr. Cleveland carried his home county by a very flattering majority, just as he carried a great many other doubtful counties in New York. It was different, however, in his second race for, to the astonishment of everybody, his home county went against him, while it gave Hill for governor a splendid majority. To be more explicit, Mr. Cleveland lost his home county in 1888 by about four thousand votes, Mr. Harrison having the satisfaction of defeating the distinguished democratic leader to that extent in his home county. Mr. Hill for governor, carried Mr. Cleve land's home county at the same time by about eight thousand majority. Thus the difference between Hill and Cleveland in the latter's home county approximated 12,000 votes-A GREATER PERCENTAGE AS COM-PARED WITH THE TOTAL VOTE THAN ANY OTHER COUNTY IN THE STATE OF NEW

Now, who betrayed Mr. Cleveland in his home county? It is absurd to say that Mr. Hill could have done so, and the only possible answer to the question is that the democrate of Erie county admired and endorsed the magnificent democratic record of New York's democratic governor, and did not approve of the mugwump influences to which Mr. Cleveland had allowed himself to become subjected as president.

YORK.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, one of the ablest republican organs of the country, and a paper which is very frequently quoted as authority by the featherhead press, in its untimely abuse of Governor Hill, comes to the rescue of The Philadelphia Times and the featherheads, in this instance.

Commenting on the fact that Mr. Hill carried Mr Cleveland's home county in 1888 and that Mr. Flower carried Mr. Cleveland's home county in 1891, and that Mr. Harrison carried Mr. Cleveland's home county in 1888, and that Mr. Cleveland lost Mr. Cleveland's home county in 1888, it says:

It is a fact that Harrison carried Eric county i which the city of Buffalo is situated, by the Flower's plurality in that county. But even had Mr. Cleveland carried "his own city and county" by a plurality equal to that given Mr. Flower, York gave for President Harrison, how it would have affected the result.

If the difference between Mr. Hill and Mr. Cleveland's vote in Mr. Cleveland's home county approximated 12,000, and if Mr. Cleveland's record had commended itself to the voters of his own county to such an extent as to have given him at least as full a vote as that received by Governor Hill, who lived 300 miles distant, it is very easy to estimate what a proportionate change in the other counties of New York would have worked in the way of overcoming the majority which Harrison received in that

It is a simple calculation. Try it, and the result will be astonishing.

FIVE SIGNIFICANT STRAWS. Which Blow in the Political Wind with

Hon. Tom Crenshaw, the collector of internal revenue for the northern district of Georgia under Mr. Cleveland's administration, was in Atlanta yesterday. In speaking of the presidential outlook, Mr. Crenshaw said:

"Two months ago I thought that the democratic party had only one course to pursue-to renominate Mr. Cleveland. Today I am satisfied that the conditions have changed, and there seems to be no longer any doubt, in my mind, that if the party is to win the next fight it must nominate Mr. Hill. I think that I have the reputation of being a loval man. I certainly admire Mr. Cleveland, and believe him to be a man of rugged honesty. But I put the success of the party above personality, and on this basis it seems now that Hill is the man. We cannot afford to disregard the wishes of New York, and if the convention of that state declares for Hill that should settle it. Several months ago I had a conference with Senator Colquitt. I disagreed with him then in his emphatic views concerning Mr. Hill, but 1 now see that I was wrong and he was right. In my position I am constantiz traveling all over Georgia and Alabama and I have never seen anything like the wonderful change of sentiment for Hill. It is marvelous. If it was purely a question of personal choice I would, be for Cleveland, but as it is not, I do not think it would be right to take that as a standard. I believe that by the time the national convention meets, Hill will have no oppo-

Hon. John W. Nelms, one of the sturdiest democrats in Georgia, and one who knows more about the art of politics than the man who invented it, was United States marshal for the northern district of Georgia under Mr. Cleveland. Concerning the presidential outlook he says:

"If the party wants to be assured of success next time, it must take the man who can carry New York. It would be more than absurd to begin the fight by ignoring the wishes of the democrats of that state, the electoral vote of which is absolutely necessary for democratic success. That Hill can get it there is no longer any doubt in my mind. The people admire his intense democratic enthusiasm. I think that he is the man on whom the democratic party should concentrate, and under whom it will march to certain vic-

Hon. A. S. Clay, of Cobb, ex-speaker of the Georgia house of representatives, was in Atlanta yesterday, coming down on the morning train from his home in Marietta. "Up our way," said Mr. Clay, "I think there is no doubt but that the people are overwhelmingly for Hill. We have a very large farmers' vote in our county, and they are dead set against Cleveland. Hill's nomination would be acceptable, and as between the two they are overwhelmingly in favor of Hill rather than Cleveland. "Hill's magnificent record in New York and his gallant service for the party has worked wonders in our section." Hon. W. S. Humphreys, for four years a member of the legislature from Brooks county, and a member of the present house, was in Atlanta yesterday on business "The people of south Georgia," said he, "are not in favor of Mr. Cleveland. Hill has made phenomenal gains in that sec tion, and is my choice of the two."

Hon. Tracy Baxter, member of the house of representatives from Bibb county, is in the city attending supreme court. "There is no question," said he, "as to what the party ought to do as between Hill and Cleveland. We cannot get along without the vote of New York, and the democrats of that state want Hill. Therefore he should be chosen. I am decidedly

CANTON, Ga., February 5 .- [Special.]-Hon. Thomas E. Winn, congressman from the ninth district, has written an open letter to the alliancemen of Cherokee. In this letter he reviews the principles upon which he was elected, and pays his respects to Mr. Tom Watson and the third party. The letter is both logical and Among other things, he says:

An attempt has been made to belittle some of us and hold us up to ridicule and the con-tempt of the people. All these things we have passed over in silence and unno-ticed, notwithstanding the outrageous and unpre-edented conduct of one of our colleagues ticed, notwithstanding the outrageous and unpre-edented conduct of one of our colleagues in attacking us each by name in the public prints. If we had felt disposed, we had ample ground, we think, to severely criticise his (Mr. Watson's) action in refusing to act with the party which nominated and elected him, but we refrained from doing so because we thought it would be a gross violation of that official courtesy which we think has stood unbroken in all the history of our state in the past. This was a matter we thought between himself and his constituents of the district he was sent here to represent. I believe in working through the democratic party because I know it is our only hope of success. You reply, look at the democrats opposing us. I say, elect true democrats and send them here who are with us, alliance democrats after the type of Jefferson, the founder of the democratic party. Some may think it best for the alliance to go into the people's party. Follow this doctrine, and our noble order, which has done so much for us, will be launched into active partisan politics, go lito the personal and our noble order, which has done so much out, will be launched into active partisan pelities, and, as Livingston truthfully says, will be ground into powder between the two great political parties.

Mr. Winn's letter, which is well sustained Mr. Winn's letter, which is well sustained throughout, closes with this advice to alliancemen and the people of his district generally:
Great and sweeping reforms in government are accomplished slowly, by piecemeal, if you will allow the expression, a little here and a little there. To be convinced of this, look backward at the history of slavery agitation and see the years that were spent in its agitation, but its march was steadily onward and finally was successful. The institution was rooted and grounded in our organic law, and it took fifty years to accomplish its overthrow. Now, look at our financial system, which alliancemen complain is the source of more which alliancemen complain is the source of mo f the evils which affect the industrial class of the evils which affect the industrial classes than any other. It was adopted thirty years ago, and has become a part of the fixed policy of our government. It has taken deep root, and a great many people believe it is the best financial system this government ever had, while we alliancemen know that its provisions and operation is entirely wrong and unequal and victous. Does any one suppose we can in thirty days, by the 22d of February, change this system? I am sorry to say that we cannot, but that it will take patient and persistent work to accomplish it, but I believe it can be done if we "faint not" and if we take no histy and inconsiderate action and thus destroy the power and potency of our great order as an educational agency by committing it to a political party. Standgreat order as an educational agency by committing it to a political party. Standing here on the watch tower, with every interest of my suffering people pressing heavily upon me, I am deeply sensible of the immense responsibility resting upon/me, and I will say to you candidly that my heart almost sinks within me when I remember their condition and I see before me the formidable obstacles in the way of their relief.

But let us "work and wait." Let us stand as unit. Let us not divide in the face of the enemy. Let us, while holding fast to our faith, resist the blandishments of unsafe advisors within, as well as the open attacks of our avowed enemies with-

This message, my brethrens is penned de-therately and honestly and as my judgment dic-ates as the best policy for us to pursue. Fra-ernally yours, Thomas E. Winn.

A NUMBER OF ROBBERIES

That Developed in Police Circles Yester day-Good Detective Work. A daring robbery night before last was succe lly worked out by the detectives yesterday. Just after Burns's saloon on Decatur street, ne Piedmont avenue, had closed Thursday evening me one approached Patrolman Me standing at the corner, and asked his assistance in stopping some trouble at a place near by.

[The officer readily complied. He found no fracas, but spent some time looking for it.

While he was gone several parties broke into th saloon and robbed the cash drawer. They secure $150 in cash and quickly made their escape. The burglary was not discovered until early yesterday morning. It was immediately reported a police headquarters, and Detectives Looney and Cason were detailed upon the case.

Just before noon Sergeant Jennings and Patrol nan Norman arrested two negroes, Alf Evans and Will Harris, who were charged with the midnig robbery. About the same time the detectives caught Gilbert Evans, who was thought to have had a hand in the affair. Looney and Cason then went to the home of Evans's mother, on Pratt street, and found $62.25 buried in the yard in a tin bucket. At Harris's home they secured $84.34, which had been hidde in the yard in the same way. In both cases the money was concealed beneath a heap of ashes.

The money footed up $146.59, hardly four dollars less than the amount stolen at Burns's, and the officers feel certain that the right parties have been caught. been caught.

The negroes will be taken before Justice Man-ning for a preliminary hearing on the charge of burglary.

Some Stolen Jewelry.

Some Stolen Jewelry.

Detectives Cason and Green yesterday morning arrested Joe Mays, and booked him for suspicion. When he was arrested, Maystried to throw away some things that he had in his pockets. At the station house he was searched and some valuable jewelry found. There were two pretty watch chains, a fine ring and a stud, still fixed in the card used by the dealers in displaying their goods. They had evidently been stolen. The detectives visited the various jewelry establishments in the city, but none of the proprietors identified the goods as their own. Mays claims that he does not live in Atlanta. The supposition is that the regoods as their own. Mays claims that he does not live in Atlanta. The supposition is that the recovered goods are part of the large amount jewelry stolen in Chattanooga a few days ago, and the matter will be carefully looked into today.

Another Young Burglar.

George Brown, a negro boy, was carried befor Judge Manning yesterday and committed to Fulton county jail for burglary, in default of five-hundred-dollar bond.

Brown is thought to be a member of a gang of five-hundred-dollar bond.

Brown is thought to be a member of a gang of thieves who have been committing a number of robberies. Several days ago Officers Sheridan and Dukes arrested a little negro on the charge of breaking into Swift's on Broad street. He konfessed and then gave the names of the members of the band with whom he had been operating.

One by one they have been caught and sent to fail and Brown is one of the number. He is also concerned in the burglary at Tappan's, on Feachtree street.

FOUR HOUSES BURNED.

But It Was Good Work to Hold the Fire Down to That. The fire department had a hard fire to fight yes-erday morning.

At the end of Markam street there is a large number of houses clustered together. The place is thickly settled by negroes, and a fire in one of the dwellings would seem to meanthe destruction of all of them, more than twenty in number. of all of them, more than twenty in number.

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning the root of one caught fire and in a remarkably short space of time three houses were in flames, burning like so much tinder. An alarm was turned in from box 52 and when the department reached the place the blg blaze was consuming four transactions.

the place the big blaze was consuming four frame dwellings.

It was easily seen that it was impossible to save them and attention was directed to the surrounding property. The fire was a great, roaring one and burned very rapidly. Two of the places were completely consumed, and but little remained standing of the other two. It was fine work on the part of the firemen, as they held the conflagration in as much as was possible. The ire lasted four hours.

The loss was about one thousand dollars. The purpose all owned their own homes.

THE SOUTHERN EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY.

Atlanta Chosen as the Next Meeting Place-The Committee.

The Southern Educational Association commit-ee met last night in the parlors of the Kimball. The following states were represented: Ala man, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Florida, Mis Souri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, South Caro-lina, North Carolina, West Virginia and Maryland. Professor Watson, president of the Ledden Busi-ness college, of Memphis, acted as assistant Professor Wharton Jones and Hon. Josiah H.

Professor Wharton Jones and Hon. Josian II. Shinn presided as an advisory board.
The object of the meeting was briefly stated by Mr. Palmer, the president.
Governor Northen, after this proc.dure on the part of Mr. Palmer, appeared. He assured the committee that he had laid aside a very important engagement in order to meet with the educators of the south.

He vame because he thought the question of education was one to be solved by the people and

He came because he thought the question of education was one to be solved by the people and that as an officer and a man he feit it his duty to lend his presence and influence to the cause of southern education. He urged the great importance of the education of the masses, and was proud to ally himself with the forces that were pushing the matter to the front. He further stated that he would do all that might be in his power to help the cause of the association represented.

Mr. Stahiman, of Nashville, was introduced. He said that he was glad that the southern association had been organized, and, he thought it would do a great deal of good throughout the south. As a railroad man he thought that the transportation companies should lend their influence to make the association a great success.

He insisted that one fare would be extended the association.

Superintendent Slaton, in the absence of Mayor Hemphill, presented an invitation, from the city phill, presented an invitation from the city cil, requesting that the next meeting be held the city.

THE GREAT SOTHERN.

"The Highest Bidder" Delights a Splendid Audience Last Night. It has been eight years since the younger Soth

These eight years have added several inches to his stature, but they have developed out of this childish prodigy a genius that much outruns his childish prodigy a genius that much outruns his brightest promises.

He chose for his opening piece his first Lyceum success, "The Highest Bidder." The play, though not in any sense a great one, like "The Henrictta," is replete with comic situations peculiarly suited to his mimitable style.

As Jack Hammerton, the bashful but brave and generous nouvean riche, is a continual contradiction—a perpetual puzzle.

He leads one almost to the brink of the pathetic, and then comes a spasmodic laugh that takes all the dignity out of his dilemma. Perhaps no boy was ever quite so diffident—perhaps his conception is a shade impossible, but it is thoroughly delightful from currain to curtain.

Mr. Rowland Buckstone, as Bonham Cheviot, a crusty old cuss with a high temper, but a big heart, is all that could be desired, and Morton Setton did the villaun in a way that would have excited the envy of Machiavelli.

Chairman Atkinson Talks.

The above announcement was promulgated esterday morning by Chairman Atkinson, of the state executive committee. In an inter-esting interview with Mr. B. M. Blackburn, editor of The Evening Herald, Chairman At-

"I have called the committee together

"There is an organized effort to divide the party in Georgia, and this threatening co there is the additional reason that the national convention has been called two weeks earlier."
"What has been the usual date of the state

'Four years ago the state committee met on "The new political movement to which I referred," continued Chairman Atkinson, "or, better, the movement which has lately developed into a new political organization people's party, has not been formulated the hope of controlling the white vote state—but with the idea that they will state—but with the idea that they will be enabled to attract a co-working element from the republican party, and in this way snatch the state from democratic control. Should such a scheme succeed, its effect will be to put Georgia back treats. gia back twenty-five years, and thus we will be confronted with a problem that we fought immediately after the war when a few carpetbaggers and scalawags took advantage of the oralized conditions and gave political su-macy in this state to ignorance and vice." premacy in this state to ignorance and vice."

"What about the difference in caste of the reconstruction leader and the men who are at the head of the people's party?"

A Threatening Feature.

"There is the threatening feature. The men who are now leaving the democratic party represent a better element than the crowd who headed the ignorant horde immediately after headed the ignorant nords immediately after the war—but the great majority of the people's party support in this state will necessarily come from the republican party, and this ele-ment will give color to the entire organization. However, if the rank and file of these people, However, if the rank and file of these people, who are bone of our bone, and whose interests are identical with the aims of the democratic party in the south, could realize the dangerous consequences of political division in this state, I believe many of them would refuse to follow further the lead of these discussions.

"Do you expect the leaders of the people's party to gain any victories in the coming campaign?"

"They may gain a few local victories, but these will be short lived. They have no chance of doing more unless the democratic party refuses to organize and allows the elections to go by default. This, of course, will not be done. I am in favor of making the fight as vigorous as can be made through a thorough massing of strength—asking no quarter and showing How can the new movement gain even local victories, if this policy is pursued 'The movement combines the greenback element, which is very much stronger than many suspect, the independent element, also potential in some places, and those who are naturally with it as a result of the recent agitation. These forces will give the people's party a strong following in isolated localities." About the Alliance.

"Will the alliance go with them?"

"There are no people who can be more in-terested in the moral, social, intellectual and material welfare of the state than the farmers who compose the alliance of Georgia know then whenever the balance of given to that ignorant element whi composes the republican party in this state, social life in the country will become impossible, the value of property will deteriorate and our state government, which is now con-trolled by intelligence, will be in the hands of a few whites and the large ignorant element

"Knowing this, the solid element of the farmers will, in the main, stay with the democratic party. Many of its members, who feel like going with the third party on the blush, will some more deliberate thought refuse to will, upon more deliberate thought, refuse to turn against their best and truest political They know that the democratic party has brought them safely through the dark period of reconstruction, has guaranteed to them the rule of intelligence, and has never had an opportunity of enacting a single national law for their relief."

The People's Party Not in It.
"I don't look for the people's party to have a single representative in the next congress. The democrats will be in good fighting trim, and will be encouraged by their chances of gaining control of both branches of congress and the presidency.
"There will be a full delegation from Georgia, but every democrat owes it to his party to enter actively into the fight and battle squarely for those reliefs that rest on the fundamental principles of free government. Our farmers are obliged to see that the democratic party promises the only substantial relief to the masses, and that it will do everything that can be done by good party government. They also know that it would be folly to throw away these chances for a party that can exist only as a local organization

What the Committee Will Do "What will the executive committee do?"

"What will the executive committee do?"
"As to what the committee will do, I am not prepared to say. I am only one of twentyfive members. But I think they will consider the advisability of issuing an address to the people, advising them of the perils that confront them, urging thorough organization in every county of the state. The democrats of Geograf must stand together. Every man Georgia must stand together. Every man who is a member of the party, who owns property, and who is identified with the social welfare of his state, must determine to combat any movement that tends to disintegration."

An Announcement.

To the Delegates to the Agricultural Convention—for the benefit of the delegates and the comfort of the good people of Cutibert, I desire to state that it will be necessary to leave Atlanta at 7:20 o'clock Tuesday morning, the 9th instant, in order to reach Cutibert at a seasonable hour. Cunningham waived examination, however, and was put under a bond of $250 to appear in the superior court. He easily furnished it and was released.

Today the officer and hisson, Will, will be arraigned before Judge Andy Calhoun. Charges of disorderly conduct were bookedagainst them yesterday and the cases will be heard before the recorder this afternoon.

The facts of the unfortunate family disagreement will then undoubtedly be brought out.

Cunningham has seen a much better day, financially and otherwise. His father was at one time one of the wealthiest and most prominent planters in Richmond county, and the family ranked very highly.

Robert E. Cunningham became the possessor of a large part of the riches by inheritance, and was himself regarded one of the ablest financiers in Augusta. That was nearly ten years ago.

financiers in Augusta. That was nearly ten years ago.

It was the old, old story of not being satisfied with a large amount of money and a judicious investment of it. He aspired to heavier riches, and began speculating in futures. It was the beginning of a downfall. One day he lost $7.000, and from that time his money gradually dwindled away.

Almost penniless, Cunningham resolved to quit Augusta and try to shut out unpleasant memories. He came to Atlanta, looked about for work and finally was compelled, through necessity, to accept a position on the police force. Since then he has served continually as patrolman through want of something better to do.

as patrolman through want of something better to do.

The change in his finances wrought an equally great change in his manner and disposition. From a congenial, jovial fellow, he grew to be morose and shunned society generally. His sons, Robert and Will, grew up and recently secured excellent positions at the First National bank, the one as bookkeeper and the other as assistant teller.

In this connection and personally they are

In this connection and personally they are spoken of very highly, and no two young men in Atlanta have more friends or warmer ones. It seems to have been disagreements concerning financial matters that brought about the lack of bornessing. financial matters that brought about the lack of harmony in the Cunningham family and which culminated in Cunningham's assault on his son and Mrs. Cunningham's swearing out a warrant against her husband on the charge. Monday night the police commissioners will investigate the case. A formal charge against Cunningham has been preferred, and yesterday Chief Connelly surgended Counterbase. day Chief Connolly suspended Cunningham until the matter is disposed of by the commis-sioners. Yesterday Blanchard went to the American Trust and Banking Company, in the Gould building, and presented a check signed by himself. The cashier, not knowing Blanchard, did not pay it. At the bank officer's refusal to cash the check he flow into a rage and left the bank, swearing that if the bank did not discharge the cashier at once he would go back to Chicago and, diverting all his property into cash, would return to Atlanta and loan any amount of money at 2 per cent, and paralyze financial circles.

Mr. Gantt spent yesterday in Atlanta, and talked freely on all subjects except politics.

"The farmers," said he, "are in worse condition than I have ever known them to be in before. There is less money among them, and less encouragement. This is true all over the state. Last year was a lesson to the farmers, and as long as they remember it they will never repeat the folly of raising all cotton. The acreage in cotton will be reduced fully 25 per cent this year. And another thing, the farmers are not going to buy much guano this year. They are learning that it does not pay to pay such high prices for fertilizers and get such a poor price for cotton. Yes, I believe this year will prove a much more prosperous one for the farmers than was last year." Mr. Gantt spent vesterday in Atlanta, and holds the reader spellbound.

He spent part of Thursday in Macon and told his story to the mayor, and a reporter overheard it.

The story was like this: Nearly three years ago he was a piano tuner for Phillips & Crew, in Atlanta, and had been for eight years. When his bank account reached $2,000 he decided to visit his mother in Russia. He secured a passport from Mr. Blaine, and embarked for St. Petersburg. He had not been in the Russian capital fifteen minutes before he was arrested for not having asked the czar's permission to become an minutes before he was arrested for not having asked the czar's permission to become an American citizen. His passport was torn up; he was court martialed, and was sentenced to eight years in the Russian service.

He was carried to a fortress at Arrons, his money taken from him, and he was bound with convicts' chains. He showed the scars on his legs worn by the chains.

He was transferred from the fortress to the navy, and was put on the flagship Sobastopol, and after a long cruise this good ship harbored at Valparaiso. In the harbor were men-of-war of all nations, among them the American ship of all nations, among them the American ship Baltimore, whose crew came very near causing the late war. Koff was an eye-witness to the difficulty.

After leaving Valparaiso the propeller of the Sebastopol was broken near Savannah.

This ship, he says, was at Savannah last Sunday, and as Koff was the only man aboard who could speak English he was sent ashore to confer with a pilot Then he escaped! He exchanged his Russian garb he escaped! He exchanged his Russian gard for a plain American suit and started on his walk to Atlanta. He spent Wednesday night in the police station at Macon, and Thursday morning told this fairy story to Mayor Price. The mayor gave him a pass to Atlanta, and the city officials, moved by his story, chipped in and made up a nice sum for him. Thursday afternoon Mr. Koff reached At-

He was from New Orleans, he told the city warden, and wanted help to get back to that city. He did not want railroad passes—he could ride without a pass—only wanted money sufficient to buy a lunch now and then on the journey.

Mr. Will Slaton introduced Mr. Page in a neat speech.

Mr. Page spoke for about twenty minutes on the nobility and heroism of southern women. He gave an account of his experience with them during the war, and spoke eloquently of their unparralleled self-sacrifice. He wound up by saying that the girls should read more, and told them what was good for them to read.

He then read "Unc" Edinboro's Drowndin'," in his inimitable manner. This occupied norty-five minutes, and his audience was charmed. He was heartily encored, but could not respond on account of having to catch a train.

He said that he never read to an audience that inspired or enthused him more. He said he was coming back to Atlanta in April, and would read to the school again.

Mr. Page was presented with a lovely bouquet by Miss Mary Wolff, in a pretty little speech. He accepted the bouquet in a nice talk.

Mr. Page went yesterday at noon to Richmond. He goes from there to New York, and is to read at Daiy's theater next week.

GASTON GONE.

The Prophet Has Departed for Washington. Trouble in the Ranks.

There is trouble in the ranks of the African Emigration Association.

For three or four weeks heavy clouds of discord have been hovering over the association, and as days followed days they gathered thicker and faster. The threatening outbursts were, it is needless to say, all pointed at Gaston, the leader.

If the negroes themselves are to be believed, things will soon reach a climax.

lieved, things will soon reach a climax. They say something has got to be done; that they are tired of all "dis ere preachin', talkin' and foolin', and dat sumpen has sho got to drap, or dat nigger Gaston's got to tell de reason why."

But every time they become thoroughly aroused, Gaston is found to be most conspicuous by his absence. So it is now. He has gone again, ostensibly to Washington. He left to be gone two weeks.

The negroes who had sold all they possessed on earth and had turned the money over to Gaston to secure them transportation to Liberia have received one disappointment after another about the date of their departure, and have growing anxious and dissatisfied. For the past few weeks, some of them have listened to the advice of outside friends—which was positively against instructions. They have appealed to Gaston for satisfaction, since his return home the last time, and have been put off "till some other time."

Some Have Lost Confidence.

A large portion of the 800 followers of Gaston have grown tired of these tactics, but have been loyal enough to keep their anxious feelings to themselves.

A petition which was presented to Governor Northen Thursday asking assistance from the state in securing passage to Africa was the first outright demonstration of the loss of confidence in Gaston.

in Gaston.

These petitioners have not exactly withdrawn from the Gaston concern, but their request of Governor Northen is a practical acknowledgement of their conclusion that if they get to that El Dorado of which they have get to that El Dorado of which they have dreamed, it will be through some other agency than Gaston's emigration scheme.

The signers of this petition gave as their headquarters' address 22 Beerman street. A visit to that address yesterday afternoon failed to secure the information sought. Not one of the particular signers of the petition could be found, but one or two men who knew all about it were there.

One of these said it was a move of desperation on the part of some of the homeless ne-tion on the part of some of the homeless ne-groes, who had about lost all hopes of ever reaching Africa by Gaston's aid. He said that the disappointments of Gaston and his unsatisfactory conduct had not in the least dampened their ardor or reduced the African craze. The negroes are as anxious to go to Africa today as they were six months ago.

Gaston Seems to Have the Cash-

Africa today as they were six months ago.

Gaston Seems to Have the Cash.

A story was printed yesterday to the effect that February 18th had been appointed the day of departure for the excdusters, and that the money on hand had been taken out of Gaston's hands and placed in the hands of a committee of Atlanta negroes.

This was shown to one of the leaders in the movement and this is what he said of it:

"That is all bosh. It's true, since so much dissatisfaction has been brewing over Gaston's conduct, all these things have been talked of, but nothing of the kind has been done. Gaston still has the money. He carried with him when he left the other day between fifteen hundred and two thousand dollars that he has collected since his return from the last trip. He collects this money and goes away on a two-week's trip each time, and nobody here knows where he goes or what he does with the money. Understand, I am not charging him with any dishonesty, but these are facts. It may be all right, but this is the way he conducts the business, and, as to the 800 negroes leaving here on February the 18th, there is nothing in that."

Since the trouble, which is likely to end in a general split-up of the whole organization, the association has moved its headquarters from Schell's hall to a little shanty away down on McDaniel street. This was done because the uptown place was becoming too public.

Inst what the whole thing will amount to is public.

Just what the whole thing will amount to is hard to tell. Gaston has taken in a great many dollars from Atlanta's credulous negroes. Whatever he intends to do with it is

A Negro Paper's Views

The Atlanta Times, a negro paper, in an editorial on the situation says:

We were over to the African meeting Wednesday night. What a crowd! As thick as they could Father Gaston spoke at length on the glories of Africa, and wound up by saying that they would leave as early as $15,000 could be raised. Then a collection was taken. How the money poured in! One lady gave $50.

Of course these people can go to Africa if their money is not squandered. But no one can find out who has the money or how it is to be used. They will listen to no one who is not a member of their order.

We have no objection to any one going to Africa ander proper circumstances, but we wish we could prevent any one from being fooled.

SPECIALIST!

A LECTURE AND RECITAL By Mr. Edward Baxter Perry, the Eminer

Mr. Edward Baxter Perry will make his first ap pearance in this city next Tuesday night, and will give one of his delightful lecture recitals. It was with Mr. Perry the lecture recital originated in this country, and for several years he has been re-ceived by both press and public in the most flatceived by both press and public in the most flattering manner.

The value of a lecture, giving an analysis of each number before played, cannot be estimated to the student of music, while at the same time it makes clear to the laity the beauties found in classical music. To those who have never been able to appreciate the wealth of sentiment and expression as written in melody by the great masters this will prove an opportunity to fully understand that class of music.

Mr. Perry's programme will embrace selections from the great masters, with one or two of his own compositions, this latter probably embracing that beautiful work, "Die Lorilie," which has been so well received. While Mr. Perry is blind, ne asks no consideration from the critical on that account, but wishes to be judged the same as other artists.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, February 5.—There was a marked improvement in the temper of the stock market today, and despite the very strenuous efforts of the bears to continue the decline of yesterday, they were clearly out-classed, and in the stocks which attracted attentions to the stocks which attracted attentions are supported by the stocks which attracted attentions. tion material gains were scored as the result of the day's operations. On the other hand, there was free cealizing in some stocks, and the bond market, which realizing in some stocks, and the bond market, which has of late been steadily tending upward, yielded to the pressure brought to bear upon the Atchison securities. The last named were by all odds the most prominent feature of the day, and especially during the forenoon they had a marked effect for evil on the market. Grangers were rather sluggish throughout the day. J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter. By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood.

NEW YORK, February 5.-The London market opened steady, and, as the market declined here, they became large buyers of stock, and took from 20,000 t 25,000 shares. They bought about 8,000 shares of the co,000 shares. They bough about 5,000 shares of the Louisville and Nashville, and, as they have been accumulating this stock of late, the bears may come to grief, as the short interest in this stock is very large. The rumors that were circulated yesterday, of grave trouble in the financial circles in Paris, were greatly exaggerated, and this, no doubt, had an effect on the London market. Another reason may have been the London market. Another reason may have been that the crop prospects in France have turned quite unfavorable, so much so that the wheat market here refavorable, so much so that the wheat market here re-corded a rise of 2½c per bushel. If the European crops should again be poor, nobody can say how high the prices would go. A great deal of long stock, and also short, was sold during the morning hours, and the market was make to look very ragged, but the Coal stock became quite strong, and, under their lead prices rallied 1 per cent. It is said that all the differences have been at last amicably settled, and there was also a story that one sales agent had been appointed to take care of the business of the combined companies.

care of the business of the combined companies.

We are great believers in the Reading bonds and We are great believers in the Reading bonds and stocks. This road is doing especially well, and the management is careful and business-like. We also expect to see a rise in the Deuver and Rio Grande preferred. The earnings, since the last two weeks, have shown a steady increase, and we know that several people, influential in the management of the company, have been large buyers of the stock lately. Whisky secored a rise today, and it is a buy every time it selfs off. The market closes strong, and, unless Europe should self, which we do not expect, the market will rally further tomorrow.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, February 5.—The feeling on 'chane today in regard to wheat was more decidedly bullish than it has been for a long time past, and a marked advance in prices was recorded. A sentiment seems to be growing among the operators in the trading pit that, after the shrinkage of about 30 cents per bushel in value since the high prices were made as a result of the crop shortage, there is small ground to expect a further marked decline, and that time has come for an upward movement. The sentiment was fortered by a bullish character of the day's news. During the las hour the bull sentiment continued to grow, and was helped along stronger closing cables. Under a demand May advanced with one or two small reactions to 91½ and closed firm at 91½c.

Corn continues to show much strength, and to the close was at the highest figures of the day, and at a net advance of [@] 1½c over the close of yeatrday.

Oats were quiet and firm and advanced ½@)½c.

Hog products were firm and closed with small advances.

By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood. CHICAGO, February 5.—The conditions for better prices in wheat and corn today have been better than prices in wheat and corn today have been better than for some time. The foreign markets are all higher. and the few crop reports from abroad are unfavorable, Some attribute the advance in foreign prices today to our advance here yesterday. This, we think, is hardly correct, from the fact that foreign houses have been liberal buyers for the past two or three days. Yesterday, and the day before, there were some large orders for flour for foreign account, executed at prices that the millers considered liberal. Some of the largest were from Montreal. We think, however, the advance a little too sharp, and, should there be any higher By Telegraph.

The speculative feeling is becoming very friendly to May corn and oats. Some chronic bears continue on the short side, but the more conservative are inclined to wait, or take the long side for a turn.

The provision market was extremely dull. Speculators seem to be giving their attention to grain and cotton. We think cabitalists who buy cotton, with a view of holding it for a profit, could do so with very little risk to themselves, and, in all probability, materially increase their own bank accounts, besides conferring a favor on our southern friends, who are struggling under a heavy load. a little too sharp, and, should there be any higher gust delivery 4 3-54; August and Septemost delivery 15-54; futures opened easy. NEW YORK, February 5.-The market today has almost been a mystery, for with the influences all of one kind, and with apparently no support, prices have at no time shown more than a temporary demoraliza-tion, and this only upon the announcement of the expected receipts for New Orleans tomorrow. Receipts at the ports have been uniformly large, while the interior receipts can only be called extraordinary and overwhelming. The figures from almost every point are staggering, while unfortunately the shipments have not been in proportion, and lead to the expectation that the movement to the ports must continue heavy, while the information as to what is in the country is also disappointing. The uniformity of receipts is

People here who have their connections in the cotton-growing centers simply admit that there is no explanation to be offered, and none but say the present developments are absolutely unexpected. ABOUT ROADS INTERCHANGING FREIGHT.

The Wayeross Prisoners Taken Away from Savannah-Griffin and Warm Springs the Sole Bidders.

A very important rule was rendered by the railroad commission yesterday, bearing upon the interchange of business in Georgia be-

It is a rule, too, that is calculated to hasten freights destined to long transportation, as it brings to taw those lines neglecting and delaying freights at connecting points with other

The rule is the most important one the comnission has passed for a long time, as it puts a cenalty on all railroads delaying freights at ction points of connecting lines. Here are the texts of the new rules thus applying:

1. Railroads shall without delay switch off and deliver to any connecting road of the same gauge all cars consigned to points on or beyond such connecting roads.

2. They shall, at the terminus of any intermediate points without obstructions or delay, receive from the connecting road of the same gauge, when offered, all cars consigned to any point on the road to which the same is offered, or any connecting road with said road to which it is destined, and to transport said cars to their destination with reasonable diligence.

3. No railroad shall discriminate in its rates or tariffs of treight in favor of any line or route connected with it, as against any other line or route, nor when a part of its own line is sought to be run nected with it, as against any other line or route, nor when a part of its own line is sought to be run in connection with any other route, shall such railroad discriminate against such connecting line in favor of the balance of its own line, but said railroad shall have the same rates for all, and shall afford the usual and like customary facilities for the interchange of freight to patrons of each and all lines alike.

These rules will apply in such cases of said.

and all lines alike.

These rules will apply in such cases as that example case recently held up by the commission in which the Georgia Chemical Works, of Augusta, was the complainant.

It seems that the chemical works sent some fertilizers by the Georgia railroad and Athens to Harmony Grove. In Athens the fertilizers were delayed by the Richmond and Danville refusing to send them on to Harmony Grove promptly. When questioned about the matter the Richmond and Danville replied that they had a route to Harmony Grove from Augusta to Atlanta, and thence to the destination. This would make a much longer route, and make the charges unequal between route, and make the charges unequal between the Richmond and Danville and the Georgia that has been organized among the Hebrews of Atlanta to educate them and make Amer-must proceed to get it.

The commission does not declare that the depot shall be built anew out and out, but says it must either be a thoroughly new one, or else the old one must be repaired so as to be equal in every respect to the old one which was burned several months ago.

Mr. C. D. N. Burkhalter, representing the people of Americus, appeared before the commission with the application for as good a rate on fertilizers from Americus, as from Savannah to Americus, as from Savannah to Allany, which is $2.75 per ton.

the encampment will be "in it." Their bids have been thrown out of the question, so to speak.

Macon's bid is N. G.; Atlanta's was thrown out because it was only for a temporary site; Rome's was thrown out because it reached the office after time; and Chickanauga—well, there was a flaw somewhere, and it didn't go sither.

The advisory board has adjourned without deciding anything more definite than that Griffin and Warm Springs will be the only bidders in the field.

The next meeting has not been fixed for any special time.

School Commissioners' Office.

Hereafter school commissioners in every county in Georgia will be elected on March 10th.

Captain Bradwell so decided yesterday.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., February 5 .- [Special.] negro named Handy Ingram was arrested and brought to this city last night, suspected of the assault on Mrs. Crump. So sure were the people that he was the right man that a crowd of about one hundred men stayed about that building throughout the entire day await-ing the time when he would be carried out to the residence of Mr. Crupper for identification ing the time when he would be carried out to the residence of Mrs. Crump for identification as her assailant. As many more went to the Crump house to wait them, and all of the number were bent on meeting out speedy vengeance, the moment Mrs. Crump would say, as all believed she would, that the prisoner was the man. Time dragged along wearily with the waiting crowds, and when no movement was made by the sheriff to take the prisoner out to the Crump home, it began to be talked that the hesitancy was additional and strong circumstantial proof that the right man had been trapped at last, and it was whispered that if the sheriff did not allow Mrs. Crump to see the prisoner before night that the negro would never see another dawn. About 4 o'clock this afternoon the sheriff sent a carriage and brought Mr. and Mrs. Crump to the jail. Mrs. Crump looked at the five suspected prisoners in the jail, and after careful scrutiny she stated that neither of the number was the man who assaulted her. This statement was announced to the crowd, and was received with more or less distrust by the men who had waited patiently all day to visit summary punishment upon the suspected criminal. Two of the negroes are still in jail and many express the belief that the announcement at the jail door was a blind, and they are still hanging about the building. He had started hunting, and the dogs were playing about him, when he kicked at one of them and struck the hearror of his year, causing it to discharge. when he kicked at one of them and struck the hammer of his gun, causing it to discharge, emptying the load into his body and killing him almost instantly. He leaves a wife and five children. About the first week in January revenue officers got after a crowd of moonshiners, and ran them into a secure hiding place among the rocky cliffs of one of the mountains in DeKalb county, where they could easily repulse a large force of armed men. Seeing it was impossible to reach the men, the revenue officers threw into their hiding place a dynamite bomb, which killed George Kirk and perhaps some others of the moonshiners. George leaves a wife but no children. Sewer Ordinance. TOBACCO CULTURE GROWS INTERESTING.

"Scuffleton" Has Some Farmers with Different Ideas.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., February 5.—[Special.] A three-cornered row occurred in "Scuffle-ton," a thickly settled neighborhood of farmton," a thickly settled neighborhood of larmers near here yesterday. Tobacco culture seems to have engaged the minds of these farmers and one who intended to vie with his neighbors in securing the first tobacco plants of the season, bought a few pounds of cheap tobacco and bedded it, Commissioner Nesbitt having alluded to tobacco beds in his speech having alluded to tobacco beds in his speech here last Saturday.

His success in having bedded the first and perhaps the only tobacco that will be bedded in this section was more than he could stand to keep a secret. Going to one of his neighbors who would not plant the weed, he told him of what a scoop he had made. His neighbor remonstrated with him and told him he had wasted just that much tobacco and ought to have planted the seed, as that was the proper way to secure tobacco plants.

Words ensued, resulting in a fisticuff, during which another neighbor walked up and said "they were both wrong, that the tobacco ought to be bedded in the box so the plants the beautiful the box so the plants with the aroung all paid on. would come up with the revenue all paid on it, as all boxes bore revenue stamps."

The rediculousness of this suggestion made the two combatants angry and they both pitched into the third party and bunged him up considerably.

Tobacco culture starts out very auspiciously

FOR SALE TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER

Wednesday, February, 10 at 3 O'Clock,

On Piedmont Ave., Courier and Pine Sts.

These valuable lots are 50x150 feet, level and convenient to car lines, churches and schools, splendid sidewalks, with gas, water and sewerage; no better location for first-class homes, with the most desirable surroundings, can be found on the north side of Atlanta. Parties desiring lots near the business center of the city will find it to their interest to attened this sale and secure a lot to build upon. Such places are growing scarce annually, and with an increase of population at the rate of 10,000 to 12,000 a year, this property cannot long remain so cheap. Now is the opportunity of your life. It will pay you to secure a lot, whether you intend to build this year or not, because they will cost you 25 per cent more money one year later. On the southeast corner of Piedmont ave, and Pine street, there is a nice sing 5-room cottage ready for occupancy at once. This will be the most opportune time to get a bargain that you can probably ever have. The owner desires to go abroad at an early date and has instructed me absolutely to sell the property for what it will bring. Titles all right. Terms 3, cash, balance 6, 12, 18 and 24 months. On Piedmont Ave., Courier and Pine Sts.

YOUR FIT IS HERE. SUITS AT A SACRIFICE.

The sales of last month were great beyond precedent. Larger than we had reason to hope they would be. Added testimony to the broad-gauge policy that inspires the power to do with the wisdom of how to do. But do not for one single instant suppose that the triumph of a grand success leads us to relaxed effort. "Innocuous desuetude" is not in our programme. Our whole organization is at present directed towards making popular the exceptional Suit Sale now progressing here. Its equal in point of cheapness has never been known in this city.
